2014 Wayfarer Pinot Noir Mother Rock - 94 Points

The 2014 Pinot Noir Mother Rock is gorgeous. Loads of dark raspberry, rose petal, spring flowers, crushed rock, in a medium to full-bodied, dense, concentrated mouthfeel are lovely and pure. This is a big-time winner to drink over the next 10-12 years.

2014 Wayfarer Pinot Noir Golden Mean - 93 Points

Even better than the 2013 is the 2014 Pinot Noir Golden Mean, which shows deeper fruit, darker color, more substance, texture and length. The wine parallels the difference between its predecessor, the 2013-2014 Pinot Noir Wayfarer Vineyard. Drink now-2026.

2014 Wayfarer Pinot Noir Paige's Ridge - 93 Points

The 2015 Chardonnay Pratt Vineyard is soft, polished and understated. Apricot, lemon connot, chamomile and lightly honeyed notes are front and center. There is lovely creaminess and texture to the 2015, yet the wine remains vibrant ad medium in body. This is another attractive wine from Cattleya and proprietor Bibiana Gonzalez-Rave.

2014 Wayfarer Pinot Noir Wayfarer Vineyard - 93 Points

The 2014 Pinot Noir Wayfarer Vineyard is more complete than the 2013. This saw about 60% new oak, has a darker, denser ruby color, more substantial strawberry and black cherry fruit, a deeper texture and length and a nice long finish with well-integrated acidity and tannin. Drink it over the next decade.

2014 Wayfarer Chardonnay Wayfarer Vineyard - 91 Points

Wayfarer's 2014 Chardonnay Wayfarer Vineyard shows loads of tangerine oil, crushed rock, great acidity and other citrus blossoms in the aromatics and flavors. It is medium to full-bodied, dry and pure. Drink it over the next 5-7 years.

2014 Wayfarer Pinot Noir The Traveler - 93 Points

The 2014 Pinot Noir The Traveler is deep, rich and ripe with plenty of black raspberry and cherry fruit, medium to full body and light tannin in a lush finish. Drink it over the next decade or more.
